Member Spotlight - Marilyn's Story

I'd like to share two great resources with you: The Department of Vocational Rehabilitation (DOR) and SCORE "Counselors to America's Small Business."

I retired from teaching, partly because my hearing loss made it very stressful for me despite using an assisted listening device in the classroom.

I approached the DOR and asked for help with starting a new business. DOR asked me to present a business plan to help determine whether or not they would provide funding for me. I turned to SCORE for help in writing a business plan.

SCORE provides free counseling for anyone looking for help in starting a business and they offer excellent workshops on a variety of business topics. I attended several of their workshops and worked with counselors to create my business plan. DOR approved my plan and my request for "vocational training." They paid my tuition for 7 workshops at SCORE. The workshops are good. The speakers are all successful business people, excellent speakers, and are extremely knowledgeable. I am excited to be starting my own business, "Hear Gear," selling assistive listening devices. If your hearing loss has prevented you from being able to continue your career, I recommend applying to DOR for support services. Please contact me for suggestions on how to get started:

Twenty years ago, HLAA members came out in force when it was time to comment on rules under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Our comments helped shape the way the rules were written. We need you to do that again to push for captioned movies. The U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) published a notice that it is considering changes to its regulations to require movie theater owners and operators to show captioned movies. DOJ is inviting written comments from members of the public.

If movie captions are important to you, tell the DOJ!

The DOJ proposes to require movie theater owners and operators to show films with closed captioning. DOJ proposes to limit this requirement to no more than 50 percent of the films shown, and DOJ is willing to give owners and operators up to 5 years to get to the 50 percent mark. HLAA believes that "full and equal enjoyment" of services under the Americans with Disabilities Act means that people with hearing loss must be provided the kind of accommodations that would allow us to attend any movie anytime. For people with significant hearing loss, that means 100% captioning. We believe that an across the board industry cap of 50% is arbitrary and inconsistent with the law.

HLAA's position on movie captioning is:

- All movies should be made accessible to movie goers with hearing loss through captioning.
- People with hearing loss should be able to see any movie at any time on any day.
- There are many ways to caption movies today. HLAA does not specify the method used to caption the movie so long as it provides effective communication.

DOJ is seeking comments in response to 26 questions. The entire document with all the questions can be accessed at <http://www.regulations.gov>. You can reply to some or all of the questions. We suggest at a minimum, that you respond to DOJ Question #1: 1. DOJ is proposing that the percentage of movie screens offering closed captioning be set at 10 percent after one year and increased 10 percent a year until 50 percent is reached. Does this approach provide a proper balance between providing accessibility to consumers, on one hand, and giving owners and operators time to acquire the necessary equipment, on the other hand?

Send your comments to the DOJ today!

Comments sent by U.S. mail must be postmarked and electronic comments must be transmitted on or before January 24, 2011.

- State the question(s) you are responding to. You can focus all your comments on question #1 or add more.
- State why you are interested in responding. For example, that you have a hearing loss and cannot attend movies without effective closed captioning.
- State what you want to see: 100% captions, 5 years or less, no later than January 2016.
- State how lack of captions has impacted you. State why you think 100% captioning is needed.
- Thank the DOJ
- Sign your name.

See our Sample Letter. http://www.hearingloss.org/advocacy/docs/Sample_letter_DOJ_MovieCaptioning.doc

We did it for the ADA. Let's do it again for movie captioning. Send your comments to the DOJ! Thank you!
